

Timothy Sullivan

Mr. Sullivan has more than 30 years of investment industry experience. As a Managing Director at Chatsworth he is focused on capital raising and advisory services for the financial services and asset management industries. Previously, he served as Managing Director of NPI Capital LP and Newton Partners, private equity backed groups providing capital, executive management, distribution and marketing expertise for boutique investment managers.

Prior to this, Mr. Sullivan was Head of Product Development with Aberdeen Asset Management, as well as serving in senior marketing and product roles, for 13 years. His primary responsibilities included families of mutual funds (24 funds, $12 billion AUM) and closed-end funds (16 funds, $6 billion AUM). During this period the fund business grew from 6 closed-end funds and no mutual funds through a combination of fund originations, organic growth and fund acquisitions.

Mr. Sullivan also served on the Executive Committee of the Closed-End Fund Association from 2007 through 2012, and was President of the Association from 2009 through 2012 where he led a reorganization that significantly broadened membership. Prior to joining Aberdeen, he served in marketing, product and financial roles with both large and small asset management organizations including Swiss Bank Corporation and E.F. Hutton Asset Management.

He holds a BS in Accounting from Boston College.
